I think Isabel and I have lots of things in common. Sharing same interests get closer us. We can talk about everything day and night. She is a fair and loyal friend.

I can never count on Isabel. Being honest and sharing secrets are the most important things in a friendship. She usually lies and I think we are never very close.

We always argue with Isabel. She is a laid-back person so she never minds others. I hate unreliable and self-centered person. Friends should care each other.

I need tactful and caring person around me and Isabel is exactly like that. I get along with her well and I know she always supports me.
